The Amazing Collection: The Bible, Book by Book

Lesson Reviews for Facilitators

Set 1: The Pentateuch

Genesis through Deuteronomy

Introduction

In 1999, I was listening to an excellent Bible teacher expound the rewards of studying, memorizing and meditating on God's Word. I have to admit I was rather smug as I had been a student of the Bible for almost thirty years. But it was at that very moment that three words hit me like a ton of bricks. Oh, they were very familiar words. In fact, they were so familiar they had lost their impact, but on that day, God used them mightily to shake me out of complacency and into a whole new way of thinking and approaching the Bible.

THE WORD OF GOD

In that split second it occurred to me that if indeed this book really was the WORD OF GOD, then why was I not highly familiar with every single book. I had taught the Bible and certainly had been a faithful student to the teaching that was available to me (and there was a lot as I lived in the Bible belt and had even attended seminary) but still I couldn't truthfully say I was well versed in every book. But why wasn't I? If it represented the only recorded words that God had given man, why did I not have this knowledge and understanding deep within my soul?

Those were hard questions that served as the impetus to begin developing The Amazing Collection; The Bible Book By Book.

But there was another question that arose from this divine moment with God. Why was I unable to recall so little from all of the studying I had done? I began to ask many other serious students of the Word. I would begin by asking what Bible studies they had taken. The response usually included a fairly lengthy list of popular studies. Some of those were considered "light" while others were very detailed and "deep". More often than not this was preceded by a few words on how wonderful the study was and how very much they enjoyed it.

But when I asked the question "What did you learn that you remember?" I was often confronted with a somewhat blank stare. It was then that I realized that I was not alone. Somehow we were learning much but remembering little.

When we began to develop The Amazing Collection: The Bible Book By Book, we had a goal that was a bit unusual. People would LEARN FOR LIFE about every book in God's Word. Yet in order for people to truly learn, repetition must take place. And so we have developed this "Review Helps for Facilitators of the Amazing Collection". In it you will find the main points that students should remember and also some creative ideas for helping them do so. Though some may seem silly, we have found that after the initial shock of "playing games" or being given a “test” they will come to see the value of review, repetition, and various paths to stir their memory.

It is our prayer that this will be a helpful tool and stir your own creative ideas in ways to plant the main ideas of each book into the minds of your students.

There may be some pushback as you will hear “but the Bible is not just about facts and dates and characters, but about the heart of God”. That is very true yet the story God has written is made up of those very things, facts and details, and they give us clues about Who He is and how He works with mankind. Proverbs also points out that wisdom includes knowledge (facts) and understanding (remembering and applying). Wisdom, knowledge, and understanding all work together to help us know God Almighty through His Word, the Bible.

Note:

Because we learn by review, review, review....the following are some review helps for leading the Amazing Collection study. A good schedule would be as follows:

- Watch the Genesis DVD
- Discuss the Learning for Life questions
- Do the homework during the week
- Come back to class and review Genesis (both oral and written) and discuss the homework
- Watch the Exodus DVD
- Review the preceding books on a regular basis to help students remember the characters, sequence of events and the mighty works of God in each book.

Some ideas for review are games or challenges that should be done as a group. If your students meet around round tables, have that group be a team and play against the team at another table. At no time should any one individual feel that they are being pitted against another person. These games or challenges are not done to find out who is the smartest but in helping the students learn in different ways. The challenges should be done in fun and good humor. Sometimes it makes the challenge more fun by offering prizes like M&M’s or Smarties or Amazings candies.

Though lighthearted, the purpose of such challenges should always be to help the students retain what has been taught.

Session One: Genesis The Book of Beginning

Genesis is a foundational book for the rest of the Bible and the first book in the Pentateuch. There are many major events and major players and it covers a great deal of time and material. As students begin this study, they may easily become overwhelmed with the length of reading and many facts. It will be helpful to show them that Genesis is the beginning of a true story and because it is a story it flows in chronological order. Also you may want to reassure them by letting them know that this material will be reviewed over and over again in the proceeding books.

Take time to acquaint the students with each section of the workbook as follows:

Introduction, Table of Contents and the Workbook Guide

Before watching the DVD, introduce the workbook. Please point out to the students the Introduction, Table of Contents and the Workbook Guide (pg 11).

The Pentateuch at a Glance

The chart on page 13 should be explained. The larger boxes tell the HIS-story while the smaller boxes add additional information during the time period of the book below it. For instance, Leviticus is a rule book for the priests that are introduced in the book of Exodus while the people are at Mt. Sinai.

Note:

The Chronological Relationship of the Books Chart at the end of each workbook is a great tool. For example, in the Old Testament History books the story starts in the big boxes (Genesis) and ends with Nehemiah. The History Books above these in the smaller boxes (Leviticus, Deuteronomy, Ruth, 1 and 2 Chronicles, Esther) add additional information to the book in the larger box below it and fit into that same time period. There is no more Old Testament history covered after the book of Nehemiah. The rest of the Old Testament books fit into those historical books.

Memory Cards

Encourage the student to cut out and laminate the Memory Cards at the beginning of each book. Cards can then be put on a ring and kept in a purse or in the car for quick reviews. Lamination and hole punching can be done at stores such as Office Max, Office Depot, or Staples.

Introductions to Materials

Review the information provided on page 19 and 23 as you introduce the concept of the Pentateuch and the Book of Genesis.

Maps

Every weekly lesson has a corresponding map. These maps help the student put God's story in its proper location.

Note

In the back of most workbooks, additional maps help the student gain even greater geographical information. The Modern States and the Ancient Near East Map on page 157 shows the Modern Names for the Biblical areas covered in The Pentateuch study.

Overview

Point out the key facts in the Overview. This will occur with every book in the Amazing Collection and is also the same information on the Memory Cards that they will have laminated.

DVD Outline

Every DVD has an outline. It should be filled out as the students are watching the DVDs. If this is distracting for the student, all of the answers to the outlines begin on page 158.

Learning for Life

These discussion questions should follow the DVD and provide impetus for small group discussion. A Leader's Guide is on page 171 and Appendix A "The Effective Discussion Leader: A Worthy Goal" on page 180 gives valuable information for those facilitating a small group.

The Homework

There are two methods for doing the homework. One is the COMPLETE READ. If the student is following that method, they will read the entire book in a week. The chapters that should be read follow the words COMPLETE READ before the daily lesson begins.

However, if time is short, then the key chapters have been chosen for the QUICK READ to give the student a good overview of the book without reading every chapter. The written work is the same for both the COMPLETE READ and the QUICK READ.

The students should come to class prepared for discussion with their homework completed each week.

Review It

At the end of each lesson there is a REVIEW IT paragraph in the margin that once again allows the student to review the important points made in each one of the daily lessons. After the student has completed the week's written lessons, there is a Review "quiz". This is to give the student a review of the main points they have just studied. The answers are in the "REVIEW IT" paragraphs in the margins following every lesson.

Oral Review:

The Story So Far:

Genesis:

- The Book of Beginnings tells the beginning of the world, sin, nations, and the chosen race.
- It covers approximately 2200 years.
- God created the heavens and the earth and made man and woman, Adam and Eve.
- He placed them in the Garden of Eden and gave them only one command.
- They were not to eat of the fruit of the tree of life.
- They sinned when they disobeyed God's only negative command and with that sin entered the world.
- Eventually the entire world became so violent and evil that God brought a flood and all perished except Noah and his family.
- The population of the world grew once again and with it the pride of man.
- They began to build the Tower of Babel so God confused their languages and nations were formed.
- Beginning in chapter twelve, God raised up one man, Abraham, and gave him three promises.
- He promised him many descendents, land, and that one of his descendents would be a blessing to all the nations of the world.
- Abraham had Isaac. Isaac had Jacob and Jacob had twelve sons.
- One son, Joseph, was sold into slavery in Egypt by his brothers.
- There he was falsely accused and imprisoned.
- Through a turn of God-events he was released and became second in command of the nation.
- His brothers, thinking he was dead, came to Egypt seeking food during a famine.
- There their family was reunited and all came to live with Joseph in Egypt.
- At the end of the book, Jacob dies followed by Joseph.

Written Review: After a brief oral review, present them with the written review on the following page. You may choose to use only half of the following review if there are time restraints. Make it fun and light-hearted but do not embarrass anyone by asking who got them all correct at this time. As they adjust to this type of review they will relax a bit and not be so hard on themselves. However, this first time around is not a good time for anyone to reveal how many they missed! Reassure them that this is for their own encouragement and not for others to know their score.

The Written Review may be copied and given to each student. You may also simply copy the material on a board or put them on an overhead screen in order to save paper and let them use their own paper.

This Written Review is to be done alone. After they have had enough time to complete the work, then give them the answers and let them correct their own papers. This is for their review purpose only.

Please Note: The answers are given to the questions for the facilitator on the sheet following each Written Review.

- Leviticus does not add to the historical story but was an instructional book that clarified the way to God through sacrifice and the walk with God through sanctification.
- The laws given at Mt Sinai were civil, moral and spiritual and would be the foundation for the nation as they settled in the land God was about to give them.

The Story So Far:

The Pentateuch:

Genesis:

- God created Adam and Eve who rebelled against Him and sin entered the world.
- As sin increased, God flooded the world except Noah and His Family.
- Later, He confused the languages and nations were formed.
- God raised up Abraham and gave him three promises: people, land and a blessing.
- Abraham's great grandsons moved to Egypt and were living in peace at the end of the book

Exodus:

- Four hundred years later the Israelites were in slavery.
- God brought ten plagues on the people of Egypt and Moses led them out of the land and to Mt. Sinai.
- There, God gave them the Ten Commandments and instructions for building a Tabernacle.
- The Tabernacle was placed in the center of the camp.
- Upon completion, the glory of the Lord filled the Tabernacle signifying that God was indeed with His people.
- It was there that God met with Moses and the Israelites.
- Now God's first promise had been fulfilled as Abraham's family was now a nation of almost 3 million people.
- They spent one year at Mt. Sinai.

Leviticus:

- Leviticus was a rule book for the priests and contained instructions for properly approaching God through animal sacrifice and also included laws for holy living for all of the Israelites.
- Leviticus did not add to the historical story but was an instructional book that clarified the way to God through sacrifice and the walk with God through sanctification.
- The laws given at Mt Sinai were civil, moral and spiritual and would be the foundation for the nation as they settled in the land God was about to give them.
- They were now prepared to begin the journey to the Promised Land!

Numbers:

- God led the people from Mt. Sinai heading to the Promised Land.
- Once at the border, 12 spies were sent in to access the country.
- They reported back that there were giants in the land and they were too afraid to go forward.
- Two Spies, Joshua and Caleb, knew that God would protect them and fight for them but the people refused to listen.
- God punished them with forty years of wandering until all of that generation had died.
- Only those children 20 and younger survived.

Deuteronomy:

- Once again, the people were at the border of the Promised Land.
- Moses gathered the people around and gave three sermons.
- He reviewed Israel's history; he reviewed the law, and he called for obedience and courage.
- Moses died at the end of the book and Joshua took his place as leader of the people.
- The people were now prepared to conquer the land God had promised Abraham.

Review Activity for Session Five: Deuteronomy

This review is different from all the others because everyone participates and the students work as a team to accomplish the goal. Every one helps each other. It is fun and active.

On pieces of paper or large cards, put one word on each card. Then mix them up and distribute to the students. If you have five students then each student gets five cards. If you have a large group (like twenty-five) then each person would get one card. Have the students arrange the cards in chronological order. Time this activity so they will have a sense of urgency! If you have more than 25 then you may wish to add more words to the following list. Reading from left to right, the cards are in the proper order.
